Sharon Easterling

Supervisory Education Specialist, Higher Education Emergency Response Unit, Higher Education Programs, Office of Postsecondary Education, U.S. Department of Education

Sharon Easterling has been with the U.S. Department of Education (ED) since 1998. She began her career with the Office of Elementary Secondary Education as a Management and Program Analyst with the Impact Aid Program. She is currently a Supervisory Education Specialist within the Office of Postsecondary Education's, Higher Education Emergency Response Unit.

Prior to joining ED, Sharon began her professional career teaching in a juvenile detention center. She realized the impact education has on children's lives and has always believed that giving back and serving are essential to achieving goals. Sharon has volunteered with programs that impact children such as Horton's Kids, Everybody Wins, and the Salvation Army's Angel Tree. Sharon received her Bachelor of Science degree from the University of the District of Columbia and Master of Business Administration degree from Trinity University.
