Trey Harrison

Program Analyst, Partner Participation and Oversight

Trey Harrison is a Program Analyst in the Training and Information Services Division of the Partner Participation and Oversight (PPO) group at Federal Student Aid (FSA). Trey's public service career began with a verification worksheet and an inquisitive mind in the office of Federal Student Aid as a Federal Work-Study student at Valencia College in Orlando, Florida. It was at this "part-time job" that Trey developed a progressive passion for helping students reach their goals. From his initial year as a work-study student to FSA leadership, Trey's mission has always been to make higher education possible for all students.

Since joining FSA, Trey has delivered workshops for the virtual Fundamentals of Federal Student Aid Administration, provided regulatory updates, and created new and innovative campus-based training products that exclusively support the federal student aid community.
